TRACTION LINES HIT BY SHORTAGE

Further Curtailment of Schedule
May Result if Coal is Not Available Shortly.

FARMERS' CLUB IS CLOSED

Coal Supply There is Exhausted and None Can Be Bought—Situation is Tightening Here.

C. D. Hardin, general agent for the Interstate Public Service Company, which operates the traction lines between this city and Indianapolis and also between Louisville and Seymour, stated today that if the coal situation did not improve soon it would be necessary for the company to further curtail its passenger service between Seymour and Louisville. He added, however, that this step will not be necessary for several days and if coal could be delivered within a few days there would be no further changes in the schedule.

Mr. Hardin stated that the situation on the Seymour-Indianapolis division is not as grave as that faced by other traction companies in the state. He said that the strike would have to continue for several weeks before further curtailment of car service north of here is made.

The Farmers' Club was closed today as the coal supply there is exhausted and none is available. M. S. Blish, who supervised the management of the building, stated that if the farmers desired to keep the building open and would haul in sufficient wood for use as fuel, such an arrangement could be made, but that it is impossible to get enough coal now.

The situation so far as business houses and industries are concerned, remains unchanged, except that each day's delay in bringing about a settlement between the miners and operators brings a general suspension of industries closer. The city schools are well supplied with coal, as the board of trustees bought a large quantity during the summer. In this respect Seymour is more fortunate than some other cities where the schools have been compelled to close.

500 HUNTING LICENSES ISSUED IN THE COUNTY

Demands for Permits Has Been Especially Heavy During Last Two Weeks.

Five hundred hunting licenses have been issued at the office of Willard Stout this season which surpasses all former records. About three hundred of the number have been issued during the past two weeks a large per cent. of which were issued two or three days before Thanksgiving.

It was believed at the beginning of the hunting season that few hunting licenses would be issued this year in comparison with former years, because of the state law which gives ex-service men the right to hunt without a license providing they carry their discharge or a certified copy of the same with them while hunting. More people are hunting this season than ever before, according to local sportsmen, which is accounted for to a large extent by the abundance of game.

LITTLE NEW CORN PLACED ON MARKET

Receipts at The Local Mills Have Been Exceptionally Light—
Feeders Buying Heavily.

MANY FARMERS CRIB GRAIN

Bid of $1.10 Per Bushel is Offered
Here But It is Predicted Advance Will Come Later.

Despite the big corn crop in this locality this year, the receipts at the local mills and elevators have been exceptionally light. Buyers are bidding $1.10 for this year's crop, but few farmers are ready to sell at this price, believing a much higher figure will be paid in the spring. Last year at this time corn sold here for $1 and $1.10 but the price increased to $1.25 shortly before the beginning of the year and during the late summer corn was marketed at $2.75 and $3 a bushel. Many farmers predict that the price next summer will go almost as high as it was last summer as they believe that the conditions governing the market are practically the same.

It is pointed out that many large

The operators went into conference with Slack and Sims shortly after 11 o'clock this morning. The conference was secret. Other than to state that every protection "at the govern-

BANKS SENTENCED IN MONROE COUNTY

Youth Who Escaped From Jail at Bloomington Was Recaptured
by Sheriff McCord.

CASHED WORTHLESS CHECKS

Prisoner Returned to Face Trial for Murder of Father—Entered Plea of Guilty.

Alva Banks, aged twenty years, who escaped from the Monroe county jail at Bloomington several weeks ago, where he was held on a charge of murdering his father, and was re-arrested in this county by Sheriff H. L. McCord, has been sentenced to serve a term of from two to twenty-one years in the Indiana reformatory at Jeffersonville.

Banks and another prisoner, charged with forging checks, escaped from the Bloomington jail and appeared in Medora where they cashed a forged check. They also passed a worthless check at Vallonia. Sheriff McCord had been informed that the two prisoners had escaped and arrested them west of Brownstown following notice that the checks had been passed at Vallonia and Medora.

Banks' case is one of the most unusual on record in Monroe county. Relative to the charge the Bloomington Telephone says:

Two to twenty-one years of his life behind the prison bars at Jeffersonville is the price Alva Banks, aged 20, must pay for the murder of his father, Andy Banks, last spring, at Sanders, where the boy clubbed and shot the old man and then threw the body into a quarry hole. Banks pleaded guilty, claiming self-defense and what the neighbors had to say about the old murdered man saved the son from a heavy penalty. Some 35 of the neighbors were present to testify as to the cruelty of old Andy, crippled and mean and a gambler, to the boy, Alva. The aged cripple never pretended to work, they claimed, but lived by his wits. Incidentally he often beat Alva and would take the money the boy earned away from him. Alva's story of self-defense the neighbors thought was true—the story was that the old man was attacking him (Alva) when he was hit and killed. Judge Miers and Prosecutor East investigated among the neighbors and the light sentence for the boy was agreed upon.

Banks said the story in his confession made a few days after the murder was practically true. Asked why he broke jail a few weeks ago, he said the alleged forger from Bedford talked him into it and that after he got out he did not know what to do with himself.

NOTICE OF BOOST POSTED AT MINES

First Move on Part of Government to Wear Down The Coal Miners' Strike.

TO DISTRIBUTE TROOPS

New Wage Scale on 14 Percent. Increase Basis to be Worked Out Next Week.

By United Press
Washington, Nov. 29—Formal notice of an average wage advance of 14 percent to all miners returning to work was posted today at entrances of coal mines throughout the central competitive field, comprising Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, according to advices here.

Posting of notice was the first move in the plan to wear down the strike, a policy decided upon by government officials, following refusal of miners in joint conference here to agree to the proposed new wage scale.

Troops to protect all miners willing to return to the mines will be furnished by the government, the department of justice promised in a formal statement. The statement also warned that "all persons, whether miners or operators, making any agreement with each other to restrict the supply of coal, will be proceeded against as the law provides and it would be understood that any person who aids or abets in restricting the supply of coal is likewise guilty by the terms of the Lever act."

The new wage scale under the 14 per cent advance will be worked out in detail here Wednesday at a meeting of operators.

ILLINOIS OPERATORS TO TRY TO REOPEN MINES MONDAY

Another Week of Non-Production
Will Bring Stoppage of Big Industries.

By United Press
Chicago, Nov. 29—An attempt to re-open Illinois' 370 soft coal mines will be made by operators Monday, it was learned here.

If a sufficient number of miners return to work production will be resumed ever if the use of federal troops is necessary, said operators. In the meantime, reports from mid-western points showed the coal shortage assuming serious proportions.

Another week is expected to bring a complete stoppage of all industries requiring coal, according to operators.

A conference between retail dealers of Chicago and T. W. Proctor and George W. Reed, of the regional coal committee, yesterday arranged to eliminate competition during the strike. If one dealer does not have the kind of coal needed by a consumer, the order will be transferred through the retailers' committee to one who can supply it. Public schools, movie theatres, restaurants and other public institutions considered non-essentials have been ordered closed in Kansas City and further drastic curtailment of coal consumption with the closing down of "everything" was predicted by the fuel administrator there.

Interurban electric lines in Indiana were reported on the verge of complete tie-up today, with only three days supply of fuel on hand and no prospect for securing more.

Destruction of Subs.

By United Press
Paris, Nov. 29—The supreme council today decided to destroy all German submarines but ten which will be given to France.

A number of important questions are to be presented at the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night. A large attendance is desired that the opinion of the membership may be known before final action is taken on any of the propositions. The matter of employing a full time secretary is to be given consideration.

CARRANZA WOULD PROVOKE TROUBLE

Mexican Chief May Be Using This Means in Effort to Prevent
New Revolution.

SITUATION IS COMPLETED

Southern Republic Fails to Take Action in Either Jenkins or Wallace Case.

By United Press
Washington, Nov. 29—Carranza is deliberately trying to provoke an attempt at intervention by the United States to prevent Mexico from being torn by a new revolution in the belief of officials in close touch with the situation today. The Mexican president apparently thinks that if he can incite the United States to the point of making a hostile demonstration of military or naval forces against him his political rivals will forget their grievances and rally to him, threatened rebellion will fail to materialize and he will be able to cling to his office until the presidential election. The Mexican situation today seemed to be more complicated and full of menace than at any time since the Villa raids.

It has two phases:
First—James Wallace, American, was murdered by a Carranza soldier last Wednesday and evidently his slayer has not even been arrested.

Second—W. O. Jenkins, American consular agent at Puebla, is still held in jail there in defiance of this government's flat demand for his release.

The state department today was expected to send Carranza a demand for punishment of Wallace's murderer.

Unless Carranza makes satisfactory amends in the Wallace and Jenkins cases there is reason to believe the state department will recommend to President Wilson that diplomatic relations with the southern republic be severed, recognition of the Carranza administration withdrawn and Mexico treated as an international outlaw.

Actual armed intervention is not in prospect. Severance of relations however, would probably necessitate a strengthening of the border guard. The attitude of the state department, it was learned, is that the Jenkins case in itself is not one demanding particularly drastic action, but that added to previously accumulated grievances, it strains the relations between the two countries to the critical stage. The Wallace murder serves to aggravate this situation.

Wallace was shot last Wednesday at Potrero Del Llano, and, according to the state department's advices, the murder was unwarranted. A mule Wallace was riding was said to have shied at a machine gun, overturning it. Wallace was shot immediately by the Mexican federal soldier, who has not yet been arrested, according to the department.

The state department today was studying the charge of perjury brought against Jenkins in the Mexican reply to the American note demanding his release.

Contrary to previous reports, that the main charge against Jenkins was collusion with bandits to extort ransom money from the Mexican government, the Mexicans now declared that Jenkins was being held in prison for alleged perjury in testimony before State Judge Franco of Puebla. An investigation already has satisfied Secretary Lansing that the collusion charge is baseless.

Through the American embassy at Mexico City the department has asked for all evidence in connection with the perjury charge. Should the American government decide that Mexico is unwarranted in keeping Jenkins in prison on this ground, an ultimatum fixing a date for his release is expected.

Santa will give VALUABLE gifts this Christmas

YES, the buying public, at holiday time, is growing more discriminating. Giving just for the sake of giving something is poor judgment at both ends. Why not bestow gifts that will last—that have genuine value—that represent something really worthwhile.

This store, although a jewelry shop, is filled to Christmas brimming with just such gifts. Beautiful, valuable, highly-prized gifts that endure. Cut glass, jewelry in a wonderful new variety, watches and clocks, dainty additions to Mr. Lady's Jewel case—Perhaps a silver service or a single piece of exquisite design.

Make this a "JEWELRY STORE" Christmas—you will not regret it.

THE TAX LAW.

In another column of this paper is printed an article written by Mr. Carl H. Mote for the Republican state committee, showing that former Governors Marshall and Ralston strongly urged radical revision of the tax law in practically the same way that it was changed by the last legislature upon the recommendation of Governor Goodrich. The article is of especial interest inasmuch as the Democratic leaders are assailing the very provisions which they advocated a few years ago.

The democratic governors appointed commissions in 1912, 1914 and even as late of 1916 to investigate taxing methods. They found that there was a wide variance in property assessments and stated that radical changes in the law were necessary before the defects of the system could be removed.

Governor Goodrich in a recent report emphasized the vast amount of work that fell upon the new state tax board in putting the law into operation. No one claims that it is perfect. The nine months' trial has revealed some weaknesses, but these will be remedied as soon as possible. But the changes ought to be made by friends of the measure, not by its enemies.

There are many good features of the law and these must be retained. Valuable safeguards have been thrown about public money that never existed before. The democratic opponents in their effort to make the tax law a campaign issue, would cast it aside entirely. They have forgotten that they advocated the very changes they now condemn.

MINERS' WAGES.

William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, is getting into public light because of his statement that the mine operators are netting as high as 800 percent, on their investment. Another government report states that the operators have made excessive profits. Based on this, Dr. H. A. Garfield, federal fuel administrator, has told the operators that they must absorb the increase in wages to be given the miners in the present controversy.

If the operators have been making the excessive profits alleged in the bill of particulars there was something vitally wrong when the last previous settlement with the miners was made through government intervention. The retail price at that time was supposed to have been based upon the cost of coal production, and the public does not quickly forget that the retail price was advanced sharply. Mr. McAdoo, then a member of the president's cabinet, was in a position to protect the public from the excessive prices, but he decided to keep his silence until after he had retired from office. Under the law, he claims, the secretary of the treasury with the president's consent may publish the income tax reports of the operators. None was published while he was secretary of the treasury.

The operators undoubtedly have been making big dividends, and it appears that the public with the administration's approval has been forced to contribute.

It is announced that Premier Clemenceau may tour the United States in the interest of the league of nations. Should the French premier be brought here the situation will become more complicated than at present. We admire Premier Clemenceau but we do not need foreign advice in settling questions which belong to the American people.

The situation in Mexico is said to be serious, so the administration has announced that another note will be forwarded.

SPECIAL COMMISSION OF 1916

Leading Democrats Then Strongly Advocated "Radical Legislative Changes" in Taxing Law.

Indianapolis, November 29—Carl H. Mote, who is preparing a series of articles relative to the present tax law, has issued a communication in which he quotes certain Democratic records and documents to show that the last two Democratic administrations have strongly urged a radical revision of the tax laws such as was made by the present state administration.

The article contains some information which shows that the Democratic leaders of the state as well as the Republicans have recognized for several years that the old system of taxation was unfair. The article follows:

If any doubt lingers in the mind of any taxpayer with respect to the reason why the Republican legislature which framed and enacted the new tax law provided for control over bond issues and tax levies by the state board of tax commissioners during the period when the state is changing from a low level to a high level of assessments, the answer to that doubt was given seven years ago by the state tax board when four of its five members were Democrats. The answer is contained in the report of the state board of tax commissioners for 1912 on page 12. This is what the state tax board said:

"The sudden increase of 100 percent in the debt incurring power of municipalities would result in such extravagance and disarrangement of financial affairs that the state might not recover in a generation."

The Democratic members of the state board of tax commissioners as constituted in 1912 and who made this statement were the late C. C. Matson; Dan M. Link, now judge of the Dekalb circuit court; L. G. Ellingham, then secretary of state and now editor of the Ft. Wayne Journal-Gazette, and W. H. O'Brien, then auditor of state and now a banker of Lawrenceburg. The Republican member was Eben H. Wolcott.

These same gentlemen had a remedy to propose for the dangers of "extravagance and disarrangement of financial affairs" liable to occur during the change from a low level of assessments to a high level. The remedy is stated on the same page of the report for 1912.

"Without radical legislative changes," they said, "it would be disastrous * * * to enforce full valuation."

There is no suggestion in the report with respect to the actual form of proposed "radical legislative changes" and the taxpayers of Indiana are likely to remain in doubt whether the "legislative changes" made in the new law to control "extravagance and disarrangement of financial affairs" are too radical or not radical enough to suit the Democratic party.

It is high time for the Democratic party to suggest what the distinguished leaders of the party had in mind in 1912 by "radical legislative changes" or to abandon its attack on the centralized control of bond issues and tax levies as provided in the new law.

With respect further to a centralized tax administration, the attention of objecting Democrats is called to page 10 of the report of the State Board of Tax Commissioners for 1912, where the following observation may be found:

"It will be noticed that the tendency of modern legislation is strongly toward centralized control of the revenue system."

Democratic politicians have also overlooked a recommendation made by Governor Marshall in his message to the General Assembly of 1913. This is what Governor Marshall said:

"I recommend further that no bonds shall be issued until application made to the state board of tax commissioners asking for leave to issue the bonds and showing the purpose of the issue is granted."

The Democratic party has been very careful to avoid a bill of particulars in its attack on the new tax

GUARDING your HEALTH

The Vital Importance of Warm Rooms and Pure CIRCULATING Air

Warmth is nature's safeguard against colds and influenza. This is indicated by the fact that these ills are not so prevalent in summer as in winter.

An important health safeguard against these winter maladies is to have our homes uniformly heated. But just as important as WARMTH is ventilation—PURE AIR.

The imperative need for warm rooms all through the home, and pure, circulating air, is met ideally by the patented Caloric Pipeless Furnace.

The very basis of Caloric heating is air circulation, which means constant change and purity.

The air that circulates through the one Caloric register passes over castings heated from three-hundred to eight-hundred degrees, and is THOROUGHLY STERILIZED.

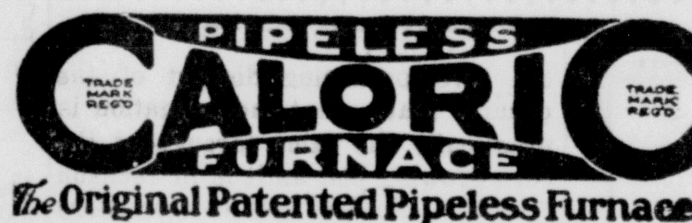

Last winter, when influenza was sweeping the country, the Caloric reduced the danger from the disease in thousands of homes.

For these and many other reasons the Caloric has become the most conspicuous heating success of the age—and has received the endorsement of physicians in every section of the country.

A Pennsylvania doctor says: "You have in the Caloric a germicidal equipment which is equal to the heating feature. No germs can pass through that whirlpool of heat and survive. As the air passes through the register many times every twenty-four hours, it is being sterilized constantly. Your Caloric Furnace fills a long-felt need."

An Indiana doctor says: "The Caloric heats the entire house at an equal temperature, saves fuel, no dust or smoke, perfect ventilation for entire house by method of circulation of air."

Send for booklet, "Healthful Heat," containing letters of endorsement of the Caloric from physicians in every section of the country.

The Picture Above Shows the Natural Circulation of Air Currents Set in Motion by the Caloric.

The Caloric heats homes of 18 rooms or less through one register—utilizing nature's law of air circulation. As the warm air pours upward into the rooms, the cool air is displaced and drawn down through the return air channel into the Caloric, where it is re-heated, purified, and again sent up into the rooms. This constant pouring of warm air into the rooms and withdrawal of the cooler air results in a heating efficiency and fuel economy impossible in any other system.

DEMOCRATS URGE REVISED TAX LAW

law. It has preferred to generalize in its criticisms—denouncing "centralization of power" in an off-hand way without citing a single instance of its abuse. Those persons who are opposed to a centralized tax administration will find little consolation in the observations and recommendations of the state board of tax commissioners when a majority of its membership was Democratic and when the tax system was not a political issue.

In 1914 the Democratic members of the state tax board were Homer L. Cook, Dale J. Crittenger, James A. Houck and Dan M. Link. In the report for 1914 these gentlemen advocated the appointment of county assessors by the state tax board and said in support of the proposition that "many difficulties would be overcome and the honest and conscientious citizen aided and protected by a more just assessment."

As late as 1916 the Democratic party was committed to a highly centralized tax administration. The report of the special commission on taxation appointed by Governor Ralston was made late in 1916 and it is this report about which Prof. Frank T. Stockton of Indiana University made the following comment in the bulletin of the National Tax Association for February, 1917:

"Tax students will find little of value in the majority statement except insofar as it recommends a more highly centralized tax administration."

The truth is that the Democratic party has been right on the tax question if it is measured only by its utterances. In execution and action, it has failed absolutely. Merely because the Republican party has been willing to take the tremendous responsibility of enacting and enforcing a new tax law, the Democratic party has been led into a position of opposing in practice what for the last ten years it has advocated in principle.

MANY CITIES SEND DELEGATES TO CONFERENCE

Community Service Institute To Be Held in Indianapolis
December 1-4.

Indianapolis, November 29—Representatives from many Indiana cities, especially the industrial centers of the state, are expected at the four day Community Service Institute, which will be held at the Indianapolis chamber of commerce, December 1, 2, 3, 4, and delegations are practically assured from Peru, Michigan

City, South Bend, Muncie, Terre Haute, Evansville, Laporte, New Castle, New Albany, and Kokoma, where groups of influential people are interested in community service. This institute, which attracted considerable interest in eastern cities, was brought to Indiana through Hugh M. K. Landon, Indiana State Chairman, Community Service, Incorporated.

A staff of community service experts, familiar with such work through actual experience, come here with the institute. In addition to these community service workers, talks will be made during the session by leading Indiana officials and business men, and every phase of recreational activity will be covered in the institute sessions. The purpose of the institute is to develop game leaders, song leaders, dramatic and pageant directors, directors of athletics; in fact, to qualify competent men and women to take charge of major leisure time needs.

The institute will be in charge of Mrs. Eva Whiting White, one of the best known social workers in the country. She was for a number of years head of the Elizabeth Peabody Settlement in Boston, is now head resident of the College Settlement, New York City and was during the war a member of the District of Columbia Commission on living conditions. The staff of experts include Miss Constance Mackaye, daughter of Steel Mackaye, who is director of pageants and dramatics.

EFFORT MADE TO LOCATE STOLEN LIBERTY BONDS

Correctional Authorities Are Puzzled
Over Disposition of Loot by Bank Robbers.

Indianapolis, Nov. 29—The whereabouts of thousands of dollars worth of liberty bonds, stolen in Indiana during the last six months, was puzzling correctional authorities throughout the state today.

Wholesale bank robberies perpetrated in central and southern Indiana have shown a growing inclination in bandits to make off with bonds and negotiable papers, particularly Liberty bonds.

Practically every bank robbery during the last half year has resulted in the looting of safety deposit boxes which in the majority of cases contained Liberty bonds.

The theory has been advanced that there is a "fence"—a central clearing-house to which the bandits sell their loot at a greatly reduced figure.

Miss Ethel Mize of Indianapolis came here yesterday to spend the week end with her father Lee Mize of West Laurel street and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jerrell of Glenlawn.

the corn producing district of the country state that the situation is practically the same throughout the corn growing belt as it is in Jackson county. Feeders are bidding more than the mills and elevators at this time as they believe that the price will jump later.

One prediction is that the price will drop in December when the movement becomes more general. After the bulk of the crop available for sale now is sold the market will tighten and the price will advance considerably.

The coal shortage may also have an effect on the price of corn during December. It is pointed out that many mills are already closed and others will be forced to suspend operations because of the fuel famine. These mills will not be on the market for corn as they were last year at this time and the local markets throughout the corn belt will be able to secure all they want. This will tend to force the price down temporarily and the lower price will be due entirely to artificial causes.

While much of the Jackson county corn crop is in the crib, it is understood that thousands of bushels are yet in the fields. The farmers who produce corn in the bottoms endeavor to get this cribbed as soon as possible to prevent loss from high water. The flood which came unexpectedly a few weeks ago swept away hundreds of bushels of corn in the low lands. Much of the corn on the high ground which is always the last to be gathered is still standing in the field. The continued rains during the early part of the fall resulted in considerable damage to the corn in the field. Most of this corn, however, will be used as feed and the owners are finding no trouble to dispose of it if they do not feed it themselves.

SOUTH DAKOTA TO HOLD CONVENTIONS TUESDAY

Events in Washington Expected to Influence Action by Both Parties.

By United Press
Pierre, S. D., Nov. 29—The president's message to congress Tuesday will be delivered at about the hour the first state convention gathers to discuss presidential possibilities. South Dakota's republicans and democrats will meet here Tuesday. Leaders said today their decision undoubtedly will be affected by events in Washington at the same hour when the president makes his recommendation for solving America's problem and congress, perhaps, will give some inkling of its attitude. Word from outside indicated keen general interest in the transaction of the business in the two conventions.

Major General Leonard Wood was a favorite in gossip among republican delegates gathering here with the names of Hiram Johnson and Governor Frank Lowden mentioned frequently. Lowden was mentioned as a vice-presidential possibility. Governor Peter Norbeck, South Dakota, was expected to remain as a candidate for the senate. Democrats talked of William G. McAdoo to head their national ticket with Attorney General Palmer as a vice-presidential candidate.

Bernice Tanner returned to her home in Medora today after a visit with Ralph Downing and family.

Uniformity

Uniformity is the secret of success of any good product.

It's the reason Willard Batteries with threaded Rubber Insulation are making such a wonderful record of long life without repairs.

Ordinary materials used for insulation between battery plates are taken just as they come from nature and can't be made uniform by any process.

But threaded Rubber Insulation is built up by a scientific manufacture. Every piece of it is like every other and almost invariably Threaded Rubber lasts as long as battery plates.

No wonder many of these batteries have given three and four years of uninterrupted good service.

JESUS TEACHES PETER TRUE GREATNESS

John 13:1-16.

GOLDEN TEXT—The Son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many.—Mat. 20:28

ADDITIONAL MATERIAL.—Mark 10:36-45; Rom. 12:3-8; Phil. 2:5-11; 1 Peter, 5:5-11.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Washing the Disciples' Feet.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus' Taking the Place of a Servant.
INTERMEDIATE TOPIC—The Dignity of Common Tasks.

I. Christ's Amazing Love for His Own (vv. 1-3).

Jesus was fully conscious of what was upon him. He knew that the cross with all its anguish was just before him. He knew that his disciples would shamefully forsake him in a few hours. He knew that one of that number would be the instrument in the hands of the devil in his betrayal. He knew that all things were in his hands; was fully conscious of his duty. Notwithstanding all this, he displayed patient and untiring love. He did not withdraw his love from them because of their weakness and the shameful failure which he knew would soon be made manifest.

II. Christ Washing His Disciples' Feet (vv. 4-11).

This act is symbolic of his amazing love for his disciples. Jesus did not regard his hands as too holy to do this menial service. The true Christian does not allow his rank in society to keep him from acts of lowly service.

1. Steps in this service: (1) He rose from supper. (2) laid aside his garments, (3) took a towel and girded himself, (4) poured water into a basin, (5) washed his disciples' feet, (6) wiped them with a towel where with he was girded. These steps symbolize Christ's entire work of redemption. His rising from supper represents his rising from his place of enjoyment in the heavenly glory; his laying aside his garments, his putting aside his vesture of majesty (Phil. 2:7, 8); his girding himself, his taking the form of a servant (Phil. 2:7); the water in the basin, his cleansing blood; his washing of their feet, his actual cleansing of men through his Word (John 15:3; Eph. 5:26); his taking his garments again, his return to his place and position of glory.

2. Peter's impetuous ignorance. He goes from one extreme to another. It is his failure to understand the significance of this service that caused him to behave so strangely.

3. The significance of this service to those who participate in it. (1) It is a spiritual cleansing (v. 8). Fellowship with Jesus is only possible as we are continually cleansed from our sins. "He that is washed needeth not save to wash his feet, but is clean every whit" (v. 10). The cleansing here is not the washing of regeneration, but that of sanctification. Even regenerate folks need the continual cleansing of Christ's blood in order to have fellowship with him. He that is regenerated—washed in the blood of Christ, symbolized by baptism—does not need a repetition of the act; he only needs the cleansing of sanctification, symbolized by the washing of the feet. As we go through this world after regeneration we are contaminated by its sins. He is willing always to cleanse us of our sins if we allow him. (2) A badge of brotherly affection. This act showed his abandonment to the service of his own. This is a lesson that is much needed today. We need more and more the fullness of brotherly love. This love needs to be manifested so that it may be seen and realized. True love can only be proved by the service it renders. (3) A proof of humility. This is a lesson much needed by us all. The disciples had just been disputing as to who should be the greatest in the kingdom; their selfish ambition was expressing itself. Today, on every hand, we see expressions of pride, vanity, and even arrogance on the part of those who are professed followers of the lowly Jesus. If the Son of God was not ashamed to stoop to lowly service his disciples should not regard it beneath their dignity to follow in his steps. (4) Equalization. As they would thus stoop to serve each other in the name of Christ there would be sure destruction of caste among them. The Spirit of Christ in this service is the great leveler of humanity.

III. An Example for Us (vv. 12-16)

The disciples of the Lord are under obligation to do unto each other as he did unto them. This obligation rests upon his Lordship (v. 14). All who call him Lord in sincerity will obey him. To refuse to obey him is to put one's self above his Lord.

ABOLISHMENT OF FREE EMPLOYMENT BUREAU URGED

Governor Goodrich Will Recommend Repeal of Law Enacted in 1919.

Indianapolis November 29—It has become known that Governor Goodrich will recommend the abolishment of the Indiana free employment commission, created by the 1919 Legislature, and the transference of all powers, duties and appropriations belonging to the commission to the Indiana industrial board, in the event of a special session of the Legislature. Governor Goodrich was in favor of placing the employment division of the state under the supervision of the industrial board during both the 1917 and 1919 Legislatures and urged such action. It is understood that the merging of the commission with the industrial board has been approved by Hays H. Buskirk, chairman and director, who has resigned from the state service, effective December 15.

It is pointed out that the commission which replaced the employment division, was created by the last Legislature to take care of the emergency employment service necessitated by the close of the war. It is said the work has been virtually completed and the necessity of a special commission has passed.

Due to the resignation of Gilbert H. Hendren, a vacancy will exist on the industrial board after January 1, 1920. According to a recent opinion of Ele Stansbury, attorney general, the appointment of a successor is mandatory upon Governor Goodrich, although, it is said, the funds of the board do not warrant the appointment at this time. It is said that the new member will be placed in charge of the employment service in case the plans for the merging of the two departments are carried out.

It is pointed out that the funds available for the work of the industrial board are low and that placing the appropriations of the commission under the supervision of the board will relieve the financial situation of that body. It is not intended to curtail the work of the commission.

WARNING AGAIN GIVEN TO LIBERTY BOND HOLDERS

Treasury Department Says Many are Traded for Worthless Stocks.

Washington, November 29—indications that large numbers of Liberty bond holders are trading their government securities for stocks in fraudulent ventures, prompted Secretary Glass to renew his recent warning to bondholders against being persuaded into such exchanges.

"Where Liberty bondholders are urged to give up their securities for stocks of speculative character," he said, "good sense suggests the presumption that the offer is made because the Liberty bonds are worth decidedly more than the stocks. Experience in a great number of cases shows that the stock is worthless and the bond owner who makes the exchange is simply another victim to the army of sharpers who find easy booty in these days of reckless speculation.

"Self-respect and good business judgment should decide in favor of the holding of Liberty bonds, which are declared by those most experienced in investment to be the world's best security. It is the duty of citizens in every community to sound the warning against fraudulent operators in government securities at this time, when we can ill afford to dissipate our resources for the profit of the unscrupulous few."

Mrs. Hattie Sutherland, who spent Thanksgiving in this city with Mrs. Eugenia Sutherland, will return to her home in Indianapolis Sunday.

EDUCATIONAL CONFERENCE

Interesting Program To Be Given at Bloomington in May.

By United Press

Indianapolis, Nov. 29—Indiana University is to be the scene of an education conference which probably will bring representatives from nearly all the colleges and universities of the United States. It is to be held during the first week of May.

The conference is to play a most important part in the centennial program to be held in observance of the universities one hundredth anniversary.

Some of the most prominent educators invited are: Professor J. R. Angell, Chicago University; Edward A. Birge, president of Wisconsin University; Roscoe Pond, dean of the Harvard Law School; Professor A. S. Warthin, Michigan University; Professor A. C. McLaughlin, Carnegie Institute; F. J. Turner, one of the most eminent educators of the country, and Dr. S. P. Capen, secretary of the American Educational Council.

U. S. WINNING IN SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE BATTLE

During First Five Months of Year America Furnished Two-thirds of Brazil's Imports.

By United Press

Rio De Janeiro, Nov. 29—The U. S. is winning easily over all opponents in the trade war which began in Brazil with the close of hostilities in Europe, according to statistics just issued by the ministry of finance.

During the first five months of this year the United States received more than one-third of Brazil's total exportation, and supplied nearly two-thirds of the imports to Brazil. The figures also show enormous gains in Brazil-United States trade over all previous records.

The gains were made in spite of a vicious anti-American propaganda which was published in the Brazilian press through paid advertisements for about a year, and over the most strenuous efforts of European commercial interests to regain lost ground in the markets of this country. The secret of success of the United States is not only holding its own but in making new gains is due to the fact that while Europe was sending "trade missions" and entertaining missions from this country, the United States was manufacturing transporting and delivering the merchandise.

No European country made any remarkable gains in exports to Brazil and France is the only country that made any notable advance in absorbing Brazil's exports, that country receiving nearly half of all of Brazil's shipments to Europe. The much-touted Japanese invasion of the Brazilian markets does not loom very large on the statistics although the imports from Japan show a steady increase. Brazil's trade with other South American countries showed small changes.

Mothers Need REOLO

Every mother knows that the constant care, lifting the baby and loss of sleep, with sometimes prolonged nursing, are a severe strain on the mother's system.

Amusing the baby all day long and then being up half the night when baby is feverish from teething or perhaps some serious illness, result in backache, headache, weakness and nervous exhaustion. Yet ever the mother love watches over the little one regardless of aching head and wearied body.

But for her baby's sake every mother should keep strong and vigorous. She should renew her strength to meet this steady sapping of her health and vitality.

Rich, healthy blood, full of life-giving oxygen, iron, and the cell salts that must be supplied to the cells of the body to maintain health and vigor, will keep you strong and well, restore the glow of health to the pale cheeks, and give renewed strength.

REOLO, the recent discovery of Dr. A. L. Reusing, has remarkable tonic and strength-renewing properties. It makes rich, red, healthy blood, vitalized with oxygen, iron and cell salts. It stimulates the appetite, aids digestion, tones up the heart and nervous system, increases the red blood cells and sends through the entire body a stream of vitalized, health-restoring blood, that nourishes every cell of the tissues, blood, nerves, brain and bones.

Healthy blood makes the whole body healthy. The cheeks glow, the eyes sparkle, the step becomes light and elastic and the whole body thrills with the vigor and vitality of perfect health.

If you feel tired, exhausted, run down and enervated, try REOLO. Each box of REOLO contains 100 tablets sufficient for two weeks' treatment, and only costs $1.00. It is sold under the positive guarantee that if you are not perfectly satisfied with the improvement in your health and strength after you have taken the two weeks' treatment, we will gladly refund your money.

CHAPTER V.
Picking Up the Threads.

I turned my head slightly on the hard shuck pillow and gazed curiously about. When my eyes had first opened all I could perceive was the section of log wall against which I rested, but now, after painfully turning over, the entire interior of the single-room cabin was revealed. It was humble enough in all its appointments, the walls quite bare, the few chairs fashioned from half-barrels, a packing box for a table, and the narrow bed on which I lay constructed from saplings lashed together, covered with a coarse ticking, packed with straw. I surveyed the entire circuit of the room wondering, a vague memory of what had lately occurred returning slowly to mind. To all appearances I was there alone, although close beside me stood a low stool, supporting a tin basin partially filled with water. As I moved I became conscious of a dull pain in my left shoulder, which I also discovered to be tightly bandaged.

I presume it was not long, yet my thoughts were so busy it seemed as if I must have been lying there undisturbed for some time, before the door opened quietly and I became aware of another occupant of the room. Paying no attention to me, he crossed to the fireplace, stirred the few smoldering embers into flame, placing upon these some bits of dried wood, and then idly watched as they caught fire. The newcomer was a negro, gray-haired but still vigorous, evidently a powerful fellow judging from his breadth of shoulder, and possessing a face denoting considerable intelligence. Finally he straightened up and faced me, his eyes widening with interest as he caught mine fastened upon him, his thick lips instantly parting in a good-natured grin.

"De good Lord be praised!" he ejaculated, in undisguised delight. "Is yer really awake agin, honey? De doctah say he done thought ye'd cum round by terday sure, sah."

"The doctor?" I questioned in surprise, my voice sounding strange and far away. "Have I been here long?"

"Goin' on 'bout ten days, sah. Yer was powerful bad hurt an' out o' yer head, I reckon."

"What was it that happened? Did someone shoot me?"

The negro scratched his head, shuffling his bare feet uneasily on the dirt floor.

"Yas, sah, Mr. Knox," he admitted with reluctance. "It's sure powerful sorry, sah, but I was de boy whut pulled yer. Yer see, sah, it done happened disa-way," and his black face registered genuine distress. "That's a mean gang o' white folks round yere that's took it inter their heads ter lick every free nigger, an' when yer done come up ter my door in de middle ob de night, a-cussin', an' a-threatenin' fer ter break in, I just nat'rally didn't want'er be licked, an'-an' so I blazed away. It's powerful sorry 'bout it now, sah."

"No doubt it was more my fault than yours. You are a free negro, then?"

"Yas, sah. I done belong onct ter Colonel Silas Carlton, sah, but afore he died, just because I done saved his boy frum drownin' in de ribber, de ol' colonel he set me free, an' give me a patch o' lan' ter raise corn on."

"What is your name?"

"Pete, sar. Free Pete is whut mostly de white folks call me." He laughed, white teeth showing and the whites of his eyes. "Yer see thar am a powerful lot o' Petes round 'bout yere, sah."

I drew a deep breath, conscious of weakness as I endeavored to change position.

"All right, Pete; now I want to understand things clearly. You shot me, supposing I was making an assault on you. Your bullet lodged in my shoulder. What happened then?"

"Well, after a while, sah, thar wan't no mor' noise, an' I reckoned I'd either done hit yer er else ye'd run away. An' thar ye was, sah, a-lyin' on yer back like ye was dead. Just so soon as I saw ye I know'd as how ye never was no nigger-hunter but a stranger in dese yere parts. So I dragged ye inside de cabin, an' washed yer hurts. But ye never got no bettah, so I got skeered, an' went hooftin' it down fer de doctah at Beaucaire Landin', sah, an' when he cum back along wid me he dug the bullet outer yer shoulder, an' left some truck fer me ter giv' yer. He's done been yere three times, sah."

"From Beaucaire Landin'—is that a town?"

"A sorter town, sah; 'bout four miles down ribber."

The mentioning of this familiar word brought back instantly to my darkened understanding all those main events leading up to my presence in this neighborhood. Complete memory returned, every separate incident sweeping through my brain—Kirby, Carver, the fateful game of cards in the cabin of the Warrior, the sudden death of the judge, the mob anger I sought to curb, the struggle on deck, my being thrown overboard, and the danger threatening the two innocent daughters of Beaucaire. And I had actually been lying in this negro hut, burning up with fever, helplessly delirious, for ten days. What had already occurred in that space of time? What villainy had been concocted and carried out?

"Now see here, Pete," I began earnestly. "How did you learn what my name was?"

"De doctah he foun' dat out, sah. He done looked through yer pockets, sah, an' he took two papers whut he foun' dar away wid him. He done tol' me as how yer was an officer in de army—a lieutenant er sumthin'—an' thet den papers ought fer ter be sint ter de gov'nar at onct. De las' time he was yere he tol' me thet he wint down ter St. Louee hisself, an' done gif bof den papers ter Gov'nar Clark. So yer don't need worry none 'bout dem no mor'."

I sank back onto the hard pillow, greatly relieved by this information. The burden of official duty had been taken from me. I was now on furlough and free to act as I pleased.

"Have you picked up any news lately from Beaucaire plantation?"

"I heerd dey done brought de body ob de ol' Jedge home, sah—he died mighty sudden sumwhar up de ribber. Thet's 'bout all I know."

"When was this?"

"'Bout a week, maybe mor'n dat, ago. De Warrior brought de body down, sah."

"The Warrior? Did anyone go ashore with it?"

"Pears like thar was two men stopped off at de Landin'. I disremember de names, but one ob 'em was an ol' friend ob de Jedge's."

I turned my head away silently, but only for a moment. The two men were in all probability Kirby and his satellite, Carver. Doubtless the Beaucaire property was already legally in Kirby's possession, and any possible chance I might have once had to foil him in his nefarious purpose had now completely vanished.

To be sure I had reasoned out no definite means whereby I could circumvent his theft, except to take legal advice, confer with Governor Clark, and warn those threatened girls of their danger. But now it was too late even to do this. And yet it might not be. If Kirby and his confederate believed that I was dead, were convinced that I had perished beneath the waters of the river, they might feel safe in taking time to strengthen their position; might delay final action, hoping thus to make their case seem more plausible. If Kirby was really serious in his intention of marrying Beaucaire's daughter he would naturally hesitate immediately to acknowledge winning the property at cards, and thus indirectly being the cause of her father's death. He would be quite likely to keep this hidden from the girl for a while, until he tried his luck at love.—If love failed, then the disclosure might be made to drive the young woman to him—a threat to render her complaisant.

ONLY TWO SITES CONSIDERED FOR FEEBLE MINDED COLONY

Tracts of Land Near Mitchell and Butlerville Favored by the Special Commission.

That the state colony for feeble minded persons which is to be located in the southern part of the state may go to Mitchell or Butlerville is indicated by an announcement of the commission. The commission visited several sites in Jackson county but the value of the land here was considerable more than the members intended to pay.

"J. Edward Green, a farmer, of Delaware county, named by Governor Goodrich as chairman of a commission that is co-operating with the state board of charities to select a site said that the choice of the commission had been narrowed to two locations. One is a tract of 1,601 acres near Mitchell, Lawrence county, and the other is, a site of 2,100 acres near Butlerville, Jennings county."

"We are now looking up the matter of titles and opinions on these two tracts," said Mr. Green, "and probably will be able to make an announcement of our choice within a few days."

URGES PEOPLE TO FIGHT CATARRH WITH SIMPLE HOME MADE REMEDY

Can Make Pint at Home and Costs Little, Says Leading Druggist of Covington, Ky., Who Has Made Special Study of Catarrh.

Says: Inflamed Nostrils Invite Influenza

People who say that catarrh is a disease not to be taken seriously are harshly rebuked by a Kentucky druggist who has for years been much interested in the growth of this loathsome, yet altogether too common disease.

He claims that the sore, tender, inflamed membrane of the nostrils and throat is a prolific breeding ground for germs—not only the germs of influenza, but many other kinds as well.

If people would only stop experimenting for two weeks and try a simple remedy made of Mentholized Arcine mixed with enough boiled water to make a full pint, half of the catarrh in this country would be abolished. It's really no joke for people who don't know about this simple recipe to be constantly sniffing and snuffing, blowing and hawking, when all these obnoxious symptoms as well as the foul discharge can be made to disappear in a few days.

Ask for three-quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arcine—that's all you need and after you have mixed it with enough boiled water to make a pint, gargle the throat twice daily and snuff or spray some up the nostrils, as directed.

The tender nostrils will soon lose their soreness, heal up, and be clean and healthy.

Important Reminder: Just as soon as anyone in the family gets a cold in the head, check it at once with this same medicine.

COAL SHORTAGE BECOMES SERIOUS AT VINCENNES

Industries Ordered to Close and Streets Will Not be Lighted After Night.

By United Press

Vincennes, Ind., November 29—Manufacturing industries and motion picture theaters were closed today "until further notice" because of the coal shortage. Streets will not be lighted after tonight. Many private firms are running out of coal and orders for wood to be used as fuel are being received at saw mills in large numbers. This city is in the heart of the Indiana coal field.

Seven men were in court today on affidavits charging them with stealing coal from a car on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. One of the men was a coal miner. They were alleged to have been caught red handed by railroad detectives last night. They were released but the affidavits were held and may be turned over to federal authorities.

HALL OF FAME FOR AMERICAN TREES

Tree at Crawfordsville, Ind., Said to be Larger Than Famous Huntington Elm.

By United Press

Washington, Nov. 29—Now we have a Hall of Fame for trees for today the American Forestry association inaugurated it, so intense has become the claims for recognition as to famous trees and as to the location of the largest trees in the United States.

An elm at Huntington, Ind., long has been awarded first place for being the largest shade tree in the country. This claim, of course, excludes the redwoods of California. Now comes Dumont Kennedy of Crawfordsville, Ind., with a picture of a tree on his property and the suggestion that it is larger than the tree at Huntington. This tree has a spread of 99 feet while the Huntington elm has a spread of only 75 feet. A tree at Farmington, Mass., also makes claim to being the largest.

The queen of the Belgians, the Prince of Wales, and other foreign dignitaries together with Gen. Pershing and other notables have planted memorial trees. The forestry association points out that these trees all will be famous a hundred years from now but Charles Lathrop Pack, president, wants a complete list of famous trees now.

There is the Liberty Tree on the campus of St. John's College at Annapolis, Md., under which a treaty with the Indians was signed in 1652. The experts tell us this tree is 800 years old. Then there is the William Penn Treaty Tree, the tree beneath which Washington took command of the continental army. At Oberlin, Ohio, is the elm on the corner of the campus under which was the first log house in which Oberlin College was founded. The association has listed many famous trees but it wants to make the list complete. If there is a famous tree in your town the association wants to know about it.

Planting of memorial trees and the laying out of "Roads of Remembrance" with roadside trees planted in honor of American soldiers is adding thousands of famous trees for the future. The planting of a memorial tree for Quentin Roosevelt, by the children of the Force School in Washington, which he attended, will of course be famous as will the 54 trees planted on "The Walks" at Georgetown University in honor of the sons of that school who gave their lives to their country. The Mande Renkert Centenary Elm at Memphis, Tenn., planted by that young lady, who was selected Queen of Centennial Keek by the city, to mark the hundredth anniversary of the city will of course become famous.

The first tree planted in memory of Jane Delano of the Red Cross by the Canton, Pa., chapter of that organization will become famous in the years to come. General Pershing and the King and Queen of the Belgians have planted memorial trees in Central Park, New York City, and in Philadelphia.

Miss Katherine Frazee, librarian, was called to Arcadia this afternoon on account of the serious illness of her father, S. R. Frazee.

A SCENE IN "FRIENDLY ENEMIES," A. H. WOODS, NEW YORK AND CHICAGO LAUGHING SUCCESS, AT THE MAJESTIC THEATRE, ONE NIGHT, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 5.
